

IN THE WORLD OF WOMEN

From the number of weddings that has taken place during the month of April would seem to be in a fair way towards attaining from matrimony her prestige as the month of marriages.

In number and brilliancy these pretty events have equalled any of this or previous seasons, and June must needs look well to her laurels to keep her record up to the pace that showery April has set in the way of nuptial events. A number of other brilliant social affairs have helped to make the week a notable one in a social way.

The week's events began with the wedding of Miss Kate Raybould and Robert E. Wilkinson on Monday night, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Raybould, at 541 south West Temple street.

The ceremony took place at 6 p. m. in the presence of a few relatives and friends, Rev. Daunt Scott officiating. Miss Rose Raybould was maid of honor, Miss Daisy Raybould bridesmaid, and Mr. W. T. Gunter acted as groomsmen. As the bridal party came down stairs Mendelssohn's wedding march was played, by Christensen's orchestra, and later "Cavalleria Rusticana" and the wedding march from "Loehgren" was rendered.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white liberty silk over white silk, and carried lilies of the valley. The maid of honor was dressed in blue mousseline de soie and the bridesmaid in pink organdie. The bridal party stood in a bower formed by the bay window, beautifully decorated with Easter lilies, roses and smilax, the framework of a window being tapestried with dainty white mull and festooned with sprays of smilax. From the center of the arch above hung a white bell with a single Easter lily pendant from its mouth, the interior holding a green shaded electric light. The floor was draped with white rug and white flowers and smilax carried out the color scheme throughout the room. The dining room was prettily decorated in pink and green, six tables being used, the center one having smilax festooned from the four corners to the ceiling and a dainty centerpiece of pink roses. Punch was served in the hallway. Misses Margie Miller, Edna Bailey, Annie Adams and Daisy Raybould assisted in serving the refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson left on Tuesday for their home in Bingham, Mr. Wilkinson being connected with the United States Mining company of that place.

On Tuesday Lieut. Samuel Pearson, troop K, Ninth cavalry, at Fort Duchesne, and Miss Margaret W. Vermule of Plainfield, N. J., were united in marriage, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Dr. Paden at the latter's home. Lieut. White of troop C, Ninth cavalry of Fort Douglas, and Mrs. White accompanied the couple from the Kenyon hotel and stood up with them during the ceremony. An informal reception was held at the Kenyon afterward, and in the evening the Lieut. and Mrs. Pearson were entertained at Fort Douglas. The newly married couple left on Wednesday for Fort Duchesne.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was that of Miss Edith A. Noble and Robert G. Smith, on Wednesday night. The event took place at the bride's residence on East Brigham street, at 6:15 p. m., the ceremony being performed by Bishop Scanlan. The rooms were beautifully decorated. In the parlor a pretty canopy of smilax hung from the bay window with a large bouquet of bride roses pendant from the center. Palms and big lilies were banked on either side of the window, and the curtains were covered with sprays of smilax. The mantel was banked with bride roses, and ferns entwined the chandeliers, carrying out the color scheme of white and green. The bride was escorted by her father, and Miss Edith Noble was maid of honor. Mr. T. Ellis Browne acted as best man. The bride wore a beautiful creation of Renaissance lace over spangled mousseline de soie. Her veil of dainty tulle was fastened with a diamond pin and her bouquet was bride roses. Miss Noble was gown in white organdie with lace trimmings and carried American Beauty roses.

Miss Mayme Noble played a wedding march of her own composition at the entrance of the bridal party, and Mendelssohn's "Spring Song," during the ceremony. She was gown in white organdie with lace trimmings and carried American Beauty roses.

After the ceremony refreshments were served in the dining room which was prettily decorated in red. The table was spread with Battenberg lace over red satin, and American Beauty roses and red ribbon streamers with large bows completed a beautiful effect. Roses banked the mantels and the corners were filled with palms. Mr. and Mrs. Smith left at 8 o'clock for an eastern trip after which they will make Salt Lake their home.

The largest and perhaps the most brilliant social event of the week was the evening party given by Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Salisbury and Miss Stella Salisbury on Tuesday. The house on First South street was ablaze with the radiance of shaded lights and flowers, and a throng of beautifully costumed guests moving through the pretty rooms produced a charming picture. The entire lower floor was thrown open for dancing, and upstairs refreshments were served, and those who did not care for Terpsichorean pleasure amused themselves with other social pastimes. The decorations, which were in charge of Evans, ranked amongst the season's most artistic effects in floral design.

The hall was converted into a bower with palms and yellow nasturtiums. The graceful branches of a tall palm draped from the top of the organ, and on all sides palms and the yellow blossoms were used, the color harmonizing with the polished oak paneling and staircase. The latter was prettily draped with American flags and aided in the brilliant effect. In the parlor white and green predominated, fragrant azaleas and carnations with marquerites and smilax being used. In the library American Beauty roses, Easter lilies and azaleas filled the mantels and niches and palms were used in corners. The dining room was decorated in red and white. Red carnations and Easter lilies were the flowers used, vases of these filling the mantels and sideboards, and a pretty tapestry of carnations and plumsa making a frieze on the walls. Red candles were used, and palms set on the sideboard and about the room completed the beautiful effect. Upstairs pink and white predominated, carnations and plumsa being used in profusion. Delicious refreshments were served, and Christensen's music, aside from the dancing, made a notable feature in the enjoyment of the evening. The guests were:

Major and Mrs. Downey, Mrs. Faber, Mr. and Mrs. Almy, Mrs. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Bidwell, Lieutenant and Mrs. White, Mr. and Mrs. Park, Mr. and Mrs. Post, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Luten, Mr. and Mrs. Frank, Mr. and Mrs. Nye, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Smith, Dr. and Mrs. Lindsay, Mr. and the meeting of the Reviewers club on Monday. The day was the anniversary of Shakespeare's birthday, and also the 45th anniversary of Mrs. J. C. Royle's marriage, and the date was made the occasion for a special program and celebration. The club met with Mrs. Royle at the Kenyon. And Miss Dukes who spent last summer in England gave an interesting description of her visit to Shakespeare's home, and her travels through the land that gave him birth. Mrs. Kelsey read an original poem written in honor of the hostess.

The rooms were decorated with flowers, and each guest was presented with a corsage bouquet of sweet peas and

A TAILOR MADE GOWN.

One of the most becoming models of the season is this blue cloth gown, with its applique trimmings of black taffeta. Its simple lines show the figure to advantage, and the black design which covers the collar of the little Eton coat softens the bright blue of the cloth where it comes near the face. Posed by Eleanor Burns.

Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. Smalley Smith, Mrs. Styer, Mrs. Woodruff, Dr. and Mrs. Ploutz, Mrs. Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reed, Mrs. Boscha, The Misses Creary, Critchlow, Park, Lowe, Nelden, Sherman, Laura Eberman, Sadler, June Sadler, Anderson, Leonard, Sallie Leonard, Moore, Shearman, Edna Shearman, Woodward, Kimball, Fred, Josephine Katz, Terhune, Lucille Jennings, Maud Thorpe, Webster, Geddes, Forbes, Carter, McGrath, Ivers, Burke, Blanche Burke, Alf, Zane, Young, Jasmine Young, McMillan, Governor Heber M. Wells, Dr. Fowler, Dr. Bracklin, Mr. P. H. Lannan, Lieutenant Allen, Lieutenant McCullough, Dr. Critchlow, Dr. McKelroy, Messrs. J. W. Thompson, Knox, Taylor, Gibson, Harkness, Shoup, Nolan, Porter, Westervelt, Goodwin, Ford, Gaylord, Webster, G. Lawrence, Hammel, Hager, Coffin, M. Allen, McCready, Kenyon, Henry, Woodward Wilkes, Fields, Glendinning, Charles Lawrence.

Mrs. W. S. McCormick entertained at a delightful musicale on Tuesday afternoon, about seventy guests being present. The rooms were prettily decorated, the drawing room with an artistic arrangement of white lilies, and the dining room separately in white and pink and white and yellow, pink and white carnations being used in one, and white carnations, with yellow shaded lights in the other carrying out the color scheme. An enjoyable musical program was rendered, the participants being Prof. Goddard, and Miss Elsie Barrow in vocal solos, Miss Lamson, violin, and Prof. Daynes in several piano selections. Miss Lewis accompanied the soloists with the piano. Delicious refreshments were served, and the affair in all details was delightful.

The residence of Apostle Heber J. Grant was the scene of an enjoyable affair on Wednesday night, the First Presidency of the Church and members of the general board of the young Ladies and Young Men's Mutual Improvement associations, being entertained at a delightful social. The rooms were prettily decorated with lilies and a large number were present to enjoy the pleasant evening. President Lorenzo Snow made an address and an impromptu program was rendered, Mrs. Hull, H. S. Ensign and Misses Edith and Lillie Grant being among those who took part. Refreshments were served and an enjoyable time spent by all present.

A delightful event of the week which was as distinctly social as literary, was mignonette with a quotation from Shakespeare attached as souvenirs. Refreshments were served and a delightful time enjoyed. Mrs. Coulter, president of the State Federation, was among the guests.

On Monday night the Chinese Sunday school of the First Congregational church gave a farewell reception in honor of Miss Anna Wallace, who is one of the most devoted teachers in the school. The program was in charge of the Chinese students, and included songs and recitations by members of the school, addresses from Mrs. M. E. Jones and a number of visitors, and a song by Mrs. L. C. Miller. Refreshments were served by the Chinese students and an enjoyable time was spent.

The engagement of Mr. J. H. McMurdy, formerly of Salt Lake and now of Aspen, Colorado, and Mrs. Diller, of Lancaster, Pa., is announced and the wedding will take place within the next week at the bride's home in Lancaster. Mr. McMurdy has gone east for the event and after the wedding they will reside in Colorado.

The Young Ladies' Literary society of the Twentieth ward and their friends to the number of about fifty, were entertained last Monday evening by Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Romney at their residence on Third street. The evening was spent and addresses and recitations being amongst the pleasant features of the evening. Refreshments were served and the time enjoyably spent.

A pleasant reception was given by the ladies of St. Mark's guild at Bishop Leonard's residence, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Eddie on Wednesday night. A large number were present, and a delightful time spent.

One of the pleasant events of the week was the old-time party given in the Twenty-first ward school house on Tuesday night. Many quaint and excellent characterizations, and costumes were seen, and the affair was in every way successful. The proceeds will go to the ward Sunday school.

The reception held at the Orphan's Home and Day Nursery was a pleasant and successful affair. The rooms were prettily decorated and refreshments were served, a large number availing themselves of the opportunity of viewing the establishment.

The High school students gave their last ball of the season at Christensen's last night. The affair was largely attended and was enjoyable in all details.

The fourth year normal students gave an enjoyable social at the University last night. The class and University colors predominated in the decorations and the evening was enjoyably spent.

On Tuesday the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Congregational church celebrated its annual meeting with a pleasant Kensington, nearly ninety guests being present. Delicious refreshments were served, the table being prettily decorated with spring flowers.

Miss Burke entertained at a delightful social function on Monday.

The engagement of Lieut. Frank T. Hines and Miss Nellie Vier is announced, the wedding to take place in the near future.

W. J. Lawrence and W. D. Thompson who have been in San Francisco for some time returned on Tuesday.

Rev. W. M. Paden left on Tuesday for California.

Miss Mamie Swan entertained a few friends informally at her home on State street last night.

Miss Edith Ellerbeck, who has successfully completed a course of study at Stanford University, is expected to arrive home within the next ten days.

Miss Marion Brownlee has for her guest Miss Jean Goodale, of Laramie, Wyo.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Spencer entertain the local representatives of the New York Life Insurance Co. next Monday evening.

The election of officers resulted in the following choice: President, Mrs. Heffron; vice president, Mrs. Howat; secretary, Mrs. Putnam; treasurer, Mrs. Boyd.

The outgoing president, Mrs. Carpenter, was presented with a beautiful hand-painted berry bowl.

The Council of Jewish Women held its annual meeting on Wednesday afternoon, and at the conclusion of the session disbanded until the first Wednesday in October.

As a leader of Wisconsin club women reason that she is coming to this city soon to "talk things over."

As a club woman Mrs. Neville has made a fine record. In her own city she was largely instrumental in starting the Green Bay Woman's Club, a department club of 160 members, and was its president as long as she was eligible. For seven years she was also at the head of the Shakespeare club. More recently she helped to organize the Wisconsin Federation of Women's clubs, and after serving two years as recording secretary, was made president for the all-important biennial year.

Aside from club work Mrs. Neville is interested because of her historical research. Doubtless it is she who has promoted the study of State history among Wisconsin club women to the extent that the State historical society found it necessary not long ago, in response to numerous letters for information, to issue a bulletin of suggestions to Wisconsin club women. Mrs. Neville has written a number of valuable papers for this society, and it is interesting to note in this connection, has published a book entitled "Historic Green Bay," which aroused considerable interest. Mrs. Neville is a live worker along library lines, moreover, for ten years serving as vice president of the public library board in Green Bay. It was during her administration in the woman's club that the system of traveling libraries was extended into the country roundabout.

Mrs. Neville is by birth an Illinois woman, though she was educated in New York. To this training she has had the culture of several trips abroad, so that, with the personal accomplishments she possesses, she is particularly fitted to grace the highest club woman's position in Wisconsin. And no better commentary may be made in conclusion, moreover, than to say that but once in her life has she appeared before a club with a written paper. Mrs.

Neville belongs to that wide-awake type of club woman who is able to tell what she thinks.

When Cardinal Gibbons tersely told the modern woman to stay at home and eternally rock the cradle it is probable so much "back talk," and the New York club woman—Mrs. Belle Grey Taylor—who spoke her mind in two short paragraphs, has summed up the situation admirably. She said:

"Stay at home; rock your cradle; darn your stockings; sew the buttons on your husband's shirts."

"In reply it may be said some of us have no homes to stay in, to say nothing of husbands. Cradles are obsolete; penicillin is its health and morals. Besides babies are scarce nowadays, at least in homes where there ought to be babies. Moreover, the husband wears
